China Coal and Mining Industry Webinar

July 14, 8:30 pm EDT, July 15, 8:30 am, Beijing Time

The US Commercial Service, in conjunction with Mining Media, is hosting a web-based seminar that will highlight the Chinese coal and mining market. The US Commercial Service - Beijing will be joined by private sector experts from Asian American Gas, Inc. and Caterpillar Global Mining China, two important actors in the China coal and mining sector. This is an excellent opportunity for US companies to develop a better understanding of mining prospects in China. The agenda of the program is as follows:

- Mr. Bryan Larson, Commercial Service Beijing - An overview of China's political and economic climate and China's mining industry and a discussion of how the Foreign Commercial Service assists U.S. companies doing business in China
- Mr. Pierce Li, VP-Business Development, Asian American Gas - A discussion of the coal bed methane industry in China, including market entry, competitive landscape, and challenges faced by foreign firms
- Mr. Yang Kebao, President of Caterpillar Global Mining China - A description of mining equipment opportunities for U.S. firms, competitive landscape, and challenges faced by foreign firms

Following the presentations there will be a brief interactive Q&A. The webinar will be 75 minutes total.
