Angola, Market Oriented Smallholder Agriculture Project	$49.37 million	http://web.worldbank.org/external/projects/main?pagePK=64283627&piPK=73230&theSitePK=40941&menuPK=228424&Projectid=P093699	There are three components to the project. The first component of the project is capacity building. This component will strengthen the technical, institutional, managerial and marketing skills of smallholders and their organizations, as well as of services providers and other stakeholders involved in agricultural production and value chains, to more effectively operate in a market-driven environment and to prepare for the agricultural investment support opportunities under component second. The second component of the project is agricultural investment support. This component will provide demand-based support, in the form of matching grants, to rural communities and smallholder groups and associations, for village productive infrastructure and agricultural production, processing and marketing sub-projects. The third component of the project is project management. This component will manage the project and use resources in accordance with the project objectives and procedure. The first component of the project is agricultural production and commercialization. This component will provide resources to facilitate the adoption of appropriate and existing agriculture technologies. It will also support staple crop production systems to complement the country's food security initiatives and develop domestic and export markets. There are four subcomponents: a) technology demonstration and adoption; b) support to staple crop production systems; c) market facilitation; and d) capacity building. The second component of the project is rural infrastructure. This component will provide resources for construction of new roads, rehabilitation of existing ones and maintenance of roads to communities, and selected agricultural activities. Depending on their location, length and standards, roads will be provided and maintained using the various forms of performance-based contracting. There are two subcomponents: a) network of farm access roads; and b) rural energy.	Active: 01/15/2009-12/31/2014	Lucas Kolawole Akapa Sr Operations Off. The second component of the project is small-scale community-owned infrastructure. Despite recent successes in addressing the infrastructure constraint through Fadama I and Fadama II projects, much more remains to be done to improve existing low levels of infrastructure and services. Grant resources will be allocated annually to each of the participating Fadama community associations (FCAs) for implementing priority demand-driven community-owned productive infrastructure investments of the public good type. The third component of the project is advisory services and input support. Under this component the project will finance: (a) advisory services - the project will provide support to empower fadama users farmers/pastoralists and other economic interest groups (EIGs) working within their organizations and through their local government councils (LGAs) to purchase advisory services from both public and private sources; and (b) input support - this facility involves the adoption of new	Active: 07/01/2008-12/31/2013	Dr. S A Ingawa Tel: 08035909268 Email: saingawa@yahoo.com	Larry Farris Senior Commercial Officer Tel: 234-1-261-0241 Fax: 234-1-261-9856 Email: larry.farris@mail.doc.gov

There are three components to the project. The first component of the project is marshlands and hillsides rehabilitation and development. This component is to expand irrigated area in cultivated marshlands and increase use of sustainable land management practices on associated hillsides to accelerate the pace of agricultural intensification. The second component of the project is strengthening commodity chains. This component of the project is to support the commercialization of smallholder agriculture in targeted marshland and hillside areas by intensifying production, promoting agricultural value addition, and expanding access to markets. The third component of the project is project coordination and support. This component will support the project support and coordination unit (PSCU) to ensure: (i) efficient execution of administrative, financial management, and procurement functions; (ii) coordination of project activities among the various stakeholders; (iii) timely implementation and monitoring of environmental and land-use management frameworks mandated by World Bank	Active: 06/24/2008-10/31/2012	Michael Morris Lead Agriculture Economist Tel: (202) 473-8907 Email: mmorris3@worldbank.org	Jim Sullivan Senior Commercial Officer Tel: +254-20-363-6000 x 6424 Fax: +254-20-363-6065 Email: jim.sullivan@mail.doc.gov
