The first component of the project is to support AIDS Coordinating Agency (NACA). The NACA component will provide very focused and strategic attention to build internal capacity to coordinate HIV/AIDS activities effectively, both for the project and the program more generally. The second component of the project is public sector ministries. This component will support public sector line ministries focusing on prioritized public sector mainstreaming initiatives in line with the national strategic framework. The third and the final component of the project is civil society organizations private sector. This component has been allocated the majority of the project funds, reflecting the importance of the civil society organizations in the achievement of project activities.	Active: 07/10/2008-09/30/2013	Sheila Dutta Sr Health Spec. Interventions supported by this component fall under the first axis (or operational Program) of National HIV/AIDS Strategy and Plan (NHAS) 2007-2011, and aim at reducing HIV transmission among high risk groups through behavior change and increased access to preventative services. Second component is performance-based curative services. This component will support the geographic extension of antiretroviral (ARV) treatment and opportunistic infection prophylaxis and treatment to HIV+ people in the whole country. Third component is decentralized financing of small grants to families living with HIV/AIDS and high risk groups. This component aims at providing limited economic and legal support to the most vulnerable families affected by HIV/AIDS. Finally, capacity building for local authorities and key ministries to implement HIV/AIDS Activities, and National Program Management. Component 1: Demand-driven Grants for Subprojects to Communities. This component would finance social mobilization activities at the community level, using local response subprojects in support of the National Program's three-pronged balanced strategy of prevention, access to treatment, and support and care for PLWHAs and OVC. About US$18 million would be allocated for local grants at the commune level and would be awarded on a competitive basis to initiatives contributing to the indicators of the national program. Component 2: Coordinating the Local Response with the Health Sector. This component would also be executed at the local commune level and would support coordination by regional and local authorities, including streamlining Local Response activities with health services such as the referral of seropositive cases of adults and children for effective treatment and follow up, at an indicative cost of US$2 million. Component 3: Scaling up the National Response. This component would enhance the capacity of the Ministry of Health to provide technical guidance on the national response to HIV/AIDS and would strengthen HIV/AIDS related services for prevention, treatment, and care delivered through the health care system. The content of this component will be defined during project preparation. Component 4: Strengthening Institutional Capacity For Program Management, Monitoring and Evaluation. Under this component the proposed project would allocate US$2 million for ensuring transparent financial management and procurement procedures of IDA funds, and US$2 million to support the unified M&E system	Pipeline	Jean J. Mozambique, HIV, AIDS Mainstreaming Project	$1.54 million	http://www.odamoz.org.mz/reports/rpt_desc.asp?pn=493165	The overall outcome of the UNDP Program for HIV and AIDS is that Individuals, civil society, national and local public and private institutions are empowered to reduce the spread of HIV and AIDS among population at higher risks and mitigate its impact. The UNDP component program has the objective to assure that HIV, AIDS and Gender are effectively incorporated in the plans, budgets and sectoral monitoring processes through the development of the capacity and the higher availability of local capacities. This will be achieved through building the capacity of a network of Civil Society organisations including the private sector which should function as multipliers in the training of its members in the incorporation of HIV, AIDS and Gender. The intervention includes the support of the production of guidelines for the training of planners, trainers and technical personnel in the use of the tools and in the consolidation of a network of national facilitators. The development of the capacities through the supported institutionalisation of the training in incorporation of HIV, AIDS and Gender in national training institutions is a fundamental aspect to ensure the permanent development of the required technical capacity for the medium and long term. Simultaneously UNDP resumes the responsibility in chairing and leading the UN working group on mainstreaming HIV, AIDS and Gender. The year 2007 will be the transition from individual activities of UN agencies to a joint program. UNDP will coordinate and lead the process through the year 2007,	Active: 02/09/2007-12/31/2009	Conselho nacional combate ao sida Diogo milagre Tel: +258 21 490 542 Email: diogo.milagre@cncs.org.mz	Craig Allen Senior Commercial Officer Tel: +27-11-788-4800 x4813 Fax: +27-11-268-6100 Email: craig.allen@mail.doc.gov

The FPSU will be responsible for providing technical backstopping to state agencies on procurement, financial management, gender, environment, and local government capacity issues. The unit will organize the appropriate technical assistance based on requests from state agencies or needs identified by the monitoring and evaluation system. The second component is the Local Government Authority (LGA)/sectoral ministries capacity and partnership building. Specifically, the previous polio eradication strategy, also called National Immunization Days or NIDs, was based on an OPV and Vitamin A-only strategy. As this strategy did not achieve its desired result, and following consultations with key stakeholders including the World Bank, a new and innovative Immunization Plus Days (IPD) Strategy was adopted. In this strategy, multiple antigens are offered to all eligible children. For polio eradication, all children under the age of 5 receive OPV during every campaign and vitamin A twice a year through temporary fixed posts and house-to-house teams. Other vaccine preventable antigens are administered to all children under the age of 1 at the temporary fixed post. This strategy, which boosts routine immunization through the use of vaccination cards and, where possible, the use of temporary fixed posts in health facilities within the settlements or wards, will be continued.	Active	Ramesh Govindaraj Senior Health Specialist Tel: (202) 473-2948 Email: Rgovindaraj@worldbank.org	Larry Farris Senior Commercial Officer Tel: 234-1-261-0241 Fax: 234-1-261-9856 Email: larry.farris@mail.doc.gov
